

Strategic Grants for Internationalisation

In a rapidly developing world with global and local challenges, academic actors play an important role. Academic freedom, openness and international collaboration are ingredients supporting a sustainable development. Internationalisation brings opportunities to enhance education, strengthen research and support innovation and services. Ambitious and creative strategic internationalisation initiatives are demanding but often also rewarding. With Strategic Grants for Internationalisation, STINT contributes to such initiatives at university level. The programme is aimed at the university leadership. Applications should incorporate strategically important internationalisation initiatives which also utilise the experience and dedication of individual leaders in their field at each university.
